

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

In order to provide headphones with a cord-winding mechanism capable of favorably retracting and winding a cord, a cord-winding mechanism is incorporated in either or both of the casings of housings 1L and 1R constituting headphones; and a lock is released by joining the left and right casings together, so that the cord is retracted and wound.